

SZU YANG

Chief Contracts Officer

In this role, Szu Yang is responsible for the full lifecycle of contracts management, oversight, compliance, and the quality organization to further the company's business goals. A member of Peraton's executive team since its founding, Szu has identified how efficient, technologically advanced contracts and quality function can drive and support greater organizational success.

Szu is an accomplished contracts leader with more than 25 years of experience building high-functioning teams for private and public companies in the government contracting space. Prior to joining Peraton, Szu was the vice president of Contracts and Procurement of The KeyW Corp., vice president of Contracts of Sotera Defense Solutions, and assistant vice president and director of Contract Operations at SAIC and Leidos.

Over the course of her career, Szu has led multiple mergers, acquisitions, and integrations, as well as divestitures of contract organizations. Most recently, she was part of Peraton's executive management team when it acquired ViON's as a service business, Perspecta, and Northrop Grumman's federal IT and mission support services business in 2021 to create a $7 billion national security company.

Szu was recognized by the Virginia Business magazine as one of 30 women leaders who stand out in Virginia's corporate world in 2021, as contracts executive of the year (private company) in 2022 by WashingtonExec, and a featured speaker on Federal News Network's Leading Voices in Federal Contract Management.

Szu earned a bachelor's in business administration from American University and a master's in business administration from Marymount University.
